Carnations

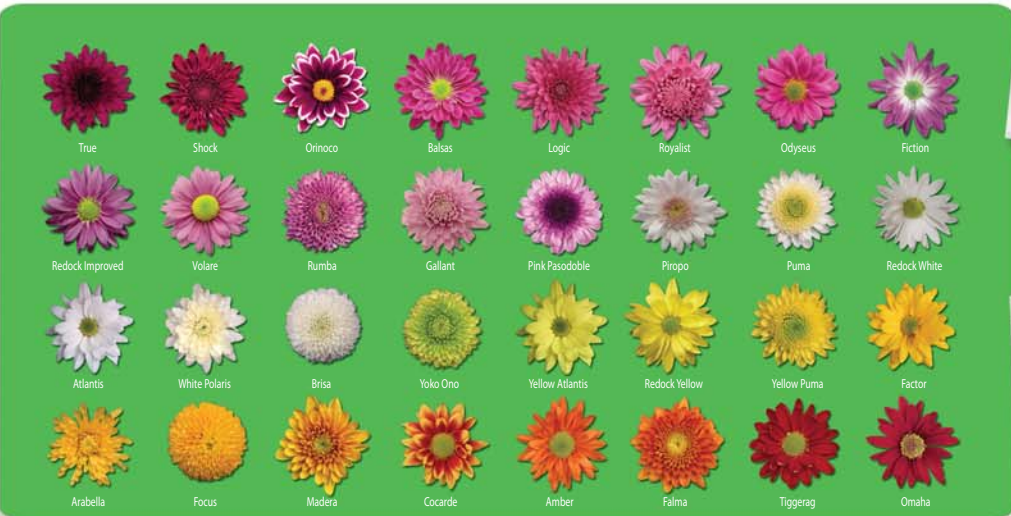

Our Carnations are STS treated at the farms to increase the vase life of the flower and reduce inventory shrink in the stores. Our new varieties are selected based on their color, consistency and productivity allowing you to have flowers with stronger characteristics. Our Carnations also have the benefits of being grown in "soiless" rice husks.

Minis

Our Minicarnations are grown in "soiless" rice husks. Unlike growing in soils where there are dry spots and puddles, the rice husks allow an even flow of water and nutrients to the plant, much like hydroponics. Constant "feedings" create more consistency, stronger stems, bigger and brighter flowers, and long vase life.

Pompons

Golden Flowers use a tighter cut stage designed to maximize the vase life. While the Pompons may look smaller before they are put in water, you and your customers get to watch the flower develop. The longer vase life reduces inventory shrink and gives the final consumer more days to enjoy their purchase.
